

OFFICE OF CONTINUING MEDICAL EDUCATION
COMMITTEE, CONTENT PLANNER OR FACULTY
DISCLOSURE DECLARATION

It is the policy of the American College of Osteopathic Emergency Physicians to ensure balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor in all its individually sponsored or jointly sponsored educational programs. All content developers, faculty, and their immediate family must provide disclosure on any relevant financial relationships with commercial interests that have occurred within the last 12-months. A commercial interest is defined by the AOA as "any entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients."

An individual who refuses to disclose relevant financial relationships will be disqualified from being a planning committee member, teacher, or an author of continuing medical education (CME), and cannot have control of, or responsibility for, the development, management, presentation or evaluation of the CME activity.

Examples of financial relationship may include but are not limited to the following: salary, royalty, stock options, consulting fee, or other financial benefit associated with roles such as speaking and teaching, membership on advisory committees or review panels, board membership, and other activities from which compensation is received or expected.
